

1. A method of stabilizing a hydrocarbonaceous material by surrounding a hydrocarbonaceous material with a first and a second said clayey format using a reaction between a reactant, wherein the second reactant is said clayey material.

2. The method of claim 1, characterized by said stabilization with said stabilization through acidic conditions in combination thereof.

- Add
a27